

Amman, 12/13/2006

Dear Sir/Madam

I am delighted to write this letter of recommendation on behalf of Mr. Raed Shomali who was one of my students for the past three years. I have taught Raed few courses in Java Programming Language, Natural Language Processing and Distributed Database Management Systems. He was ranked among the top 5% students in these classes with an "A" grade in all the subjects.

Mr. Shomali will be graduated next June with a distinguishable and remarkable GPA (4.0/4.0). If this became true, then he will be the first student ever who graduated with this honor and distinguishable GPA. His achievement during his study at King Abdullah School of Information Technology was also remarkable. He has been on the dean list for three years in a row. All of all, he sat an example for his classmates for his enthusiasm for learning and pursuing higher education. He is highly respected by his instructors and colleagues for his personality and knowledge.

Mr. Shomali is a hard worker, organized, honest and initiative. He can work independently with minimal supervision and within a team. He always meets deadlines and makes enhancements to any assigned project. For many times Raed proved and showed the potentials to pursue his graduate studies. I can say he will have a bright future and therefore, I do highly recommend him to study at your school.

Should you require additional information about Raed, please do not hesitate to email me or contact through phone.

Sincerely,

Bassam Hammo
Assistant Professor of Natural Language Processing
King Abdullah II School of Information Technology
Department of Computer Information Systems
University of Jordan
Amman, Jordan

b.hammo@jo.edu.jo